AKRON PLANTS
GO ON "ALERT"

Action Against Possible
Sabotage Ordered For Fifteen Firms

(By Associated Press)
AKRON, Dec. 1.—An "immediate alert" to prevent possible sabotage has been ordered at 15 Akron defense plants, the Akron Beacon Journal says today.
The order was wired from Pittsburgh by Lieut. Col. R. L. Abel, commanding officer of the chemical warfare service, third corps area, and was quoted as saying: "Advise immediate alert respect to plant protection."
The paper says no comment was available from executives or safety officers of the 15 plants, which were not named, but adds that the chemical warfare service at Washington explained the order was to be regarded as a general warning against work stoppages in vital defense industries, especially in those producing gas masks.
Three Akron rubber companies now are making gas masks for the chemical warfare service, and all are maintaining elaborate plant protection systems.
There was no explanation, the paper says, for the order being issued to about 10 machine tool plants here. The warning came within several hours after similar alerts were reported in New Jersey and New England defense industries.

World War Veteran
Given Valor Medal

In a much-belated ceremony Nicholas Hatagan, Salem World War veteran, Saturday night was awarded the government's Silver Star medal for gallantry in action during the first world conflict.

Presentation of the medal, a silver seal in the center of a larger bronze star, was made by Rolland Paxson, president of the Columbiana county chapter, 37th division, A. E. F. Veterans' association, at a turkey dinner Saturday night in the Lape hotel.

The event had been arranged in Hatagan's honor. Twenty-nine persons, mostly members of the Columbiana county A. E. F. unit, were present.

Hatagan, it was learned, was among a group of Yankee soldiers who were cited for bravery in connection with exploits in France and Belgium, under a general order of Major General Charles Farnsworth, commander of the 37th division, Dec. 24, 1918.

The order, for some unknown reason, was mislaid in Washington and only recently was unearthed through efforts of the 37th division society. Hatagan was not present when the medals were presented to others in the original group at the 37th division's convention in Cleveland two months ago and the medal was forwarded to officers of the Columbiana county chapter who arranged the dinner in Hatagan's honor.

The recipient, a Mullins plant employee who resides at 694 S. Union ave., was a member of Company D, of the 37th.

NAZI TROOPS

Retreat from Rostov Biggest
German Reversal
Of Campaign

NORTHERN THRUST
Berlin Admits Evacuation
To Save "Unnecessary Losses"

(By Associated Press)
MOSCOW, Dec. 1.—Severely battered German troops, hurled back through village after village in a retreat from Rostov that has become the biggest Nazi reversal of the Russian campaign, have been unable to stem the Red army's counter drive and are in danger of being cut off by a new thrust from the north, the Moscow radio declared today.

Quoting dispatches to Pravda from the southern front, the broadcast said the new Soviet thrust developed yesterday morning in the shell-pocked Donets basin northwest of Rostov, where the advance might open a corridor to the sea of Azov which would cut off the hotly-engaged German rear guard.

Unable to form new lines, the report to Pravda declared hard-riding Russian cavalrymen, first to carry the Red banner back into Rostov, kept up their charge for miles beyond the city and broke up repeated German attempts to form a new line.

Other red army units, the Pravda correspondent reported, ousted the Germans from towns identified as "B" and "K," along with many other large and small villages, in a 14-mile advance over fields strewn with Nazi dead and littered with the abandoned wreckage of German tanks and guns.

These advances, the Russians declared, hurled the Nazis back to Taganrog, 40 miles west of Rostov, then kept them on the retreat along the road to Mariupol, another 60 miles to the west.

Admit Evacuation
BERLIN, Dec. 1.—A German military spokesman today declared the city of Rostov was evacuated by the German troops because of the fighting with civilians with resulting "unnecessary losses" and to take more favorable positions to meet the Russian assault.

He asserted the Germans in the Rostov area were faced by Russian forces greatly superior in number. The spokesman declined to say how far the troops withdrew but emphatically denied that it was far as Taganrog, 40 miles west of Rostov.

MEETING CALLED ON POTTERY WAGES

The United States Potters association agreed today to a meeting of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters to discuss the possibilities of wage increases requested by the workers.

Joseph M. Wells of Newell, W. Va., chairman of the labor committee of the Potters' association, announced today that the meeting would be held Dec. 16 at the Hotel Astor in New York City.

The brotherhood members asked for a wage boost to meet the rising cost of living, it was explained. The New York meeting will follow the manufacturer's 63rd annual convention at Hotel Hollender in Cleveland Dec. 9 and 10.

The brotherhood's executive board, of which James M. Duffy of Liverpool is president, asked a review of a new pact signed Feb. 24, under which workers were granted wage boosts from 9 to 18 1/2 per cent.

In addition, the Japanese would be in position to stop materiel going to China by way of the Burma Road.

Mediators Are Pessimistic

Continue

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—President Roosevelt's special fact-finding board continued sessions today in efforts to mediate the threatened strike of 330,000 railway operating employees after a marathon session of nearly 23 hours brought no results.

The board members made no comment as they went back to work after a three-hour recess. As they broke up their day and night meeting earlier, Chairman Wayne L. Morse said he was "not so hopeful as I was."

During the night Morse had indicated he believed progress was being made toward averting the strike but when the board recessed at 8:25 a. m., he declared:

"The situation hasn't looked so good for the last three hours as it did earlier in the evening."
"There appears no chance of getting any report to the President until late this afternoon or tonight," Morse added.

The animal, a 300-pound, four-point buck, was found dead in a wooded section on the John Hill farm in Washington township Saturday night by Clyde Meilinger and Stanley Flory while coon hunting. The animal's right rear leg broken, is believed to have been struck by a car early last week.

Warden Boring was called for disposition of the carcass. He removed the antlers which are on exhibition in the windows of a local barber shop.

Mrs. Litoner received a lacerated right arm. Bailey escaped unhurt but Mrs. Jane Bailey, 17, received a forehead laceration and Carl Bailey, Jr., seven months, suffered scalp contusions.

PHILIPPINES'
TROOPS READY

U. S. Army, Naval Forces
Get Set For Any Emergency

(By Associated Press)
MANILA, Dec. 1.—United States army and naval forces in the Philippines were held in readiness for any emergency today as war fears in the Far East were fed by the arrival of fresh British reinforcements in Burma, intense military preparations in Thailand and reports that the Japanese were pouring additional troops into neighboring French Indo-China.

Belief grew here that the Japanese might strike at any moment at Thailand in an effort to cut the Burma road supplying China, whose defenses soon will be strengthened by an all-American air unit composed of American-made planes flown under the Chinese flag.

Both the Japanese press and radio declared yesterday that establishment of such a patrol would be "an example of the most provocative armed aggression."

The serious view of the situation taken by United States officials in the Philippines was reflected in orders cancelling all leaves from Corregidor, island fortress guarding Manila bay, and enforcing nightly blackouts at the naval bases of Cavite and Olongapo. Many officers on leave were reported recalled to duty.

In Shanghai, the United States consulate again advised American citizens to go home as speedily as possible. Americans in Thailand also were warned to be ready to leave.

In Hongkong, all British troops were called back to barracks, navy men were ordered to stand by and the military command announced that the crown colony was "in an advanced state of preparedness" following a three-day defense test.

WIDE GAP HINTED
BETWEEN NATIONS

Cables from Far East, In
Meantime, Give Grim
Background

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Japan's envoys talked for more than an hour with Secretary of State Hull today but brought no reply from their government to the document handed them last week restating and clarifying the American position in the Far Eastern crisis.

It was learned that today's conversation concerned only subordinate phases of the situation, and that no further discussion has been arranged so far.

Wide Gap Seen

Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura looked grave when he and the special envoy, Saburo Kurusu, emerged from Hull's office. When a reporter asked him whether there still was a wide gap between the American and Japanese positions, he replied: "I believe there must be wise statesmanship to save the situation."

Kurusu, when asked whether he and Nomura planned to see Hull again, said:

"Yes, we are instructed to that effect by our government."

While the Japanese and Hull were conferring, President Roosevelt returned to the capital from Warm Springs, Ga., having cut short a belated Thanksgiving holiday to be on hand for developments on the Far Eastern crisis. He arranged to see Hull soon after the Japanese left the state department.

Go Over Previous Talks

Kurusu said in response to questions that he and Nomura had merely gone over again various angles of their previous talks with Hull.

Cables from the far east gave a grim background to this conference and to the consultation arranged between Mr. Roosevelt and Secretary Hull shortly after the arrival of the presidential train.

Foremost was the declaration of Premier Hideki Tojo Saturday that Japan must purge American and British influence "from East Asia with a vengeance." Last night the Tokyo radio broadcast the words of Vice Admiral Shigeichi Koga, commander of the Japanese fleet in China waters who was quoted as saying that "the China affair has now become part of the world war as a result of the so-called ABC (American, British, Dutch, Chinese) encirclement."

The committees in charge of arrangements include President Ben Ware, Vice President Homer Asmus and secretary-treasurer Lois Hoover of the Junior class; President, Dick Culbertson; vice president, Paul Evans, and secretary-treasurer, Marian Davidson.

The decorations committee is headed by Culbertson and Virginia Mayhew; the refreshments committee, Alice Kuniewicz and Jean McArthur; entertainment, Maybelle Huston and Herbert Hansell.

Miss Ethel Beardmore, Senior class advisor, and Miss Martha McCready, Junior class advisor, also are assisting in the plans.

SENATE STENOGRAPHER by MAXWELL THAYER

CHAPTER TWENTY

On her way back to the office, Marie called to her.

"I thought you might want to congratulate me," she said, and Gale's heart skipped several beats.

"I've just been hired by the governor's office, a swell new job."

"Congratulations!" Gale offered her hand and Marie took it with surprise written on her features. "That's dandy!" With that, Gale went back to the office.

Murray's door was still shut. She sat up from her chair just as there was a knock. The door opened and the Attorney General with the State Police captain entered.

The taller of the two addressed her. "I'm Jake Buckle. I heard you were working down here. I used to know your father years ago. I'm mighty sorry about him, but we all have to go sometime."

He said they had come to see Senator Murray, and introduced his companion as Attorney General John Fritz.

As though he had been listening, Murray came into the outer office. He greeted the men cordially and invited them to step into his inner office. He signaled to Gale to listen to the ventilator and take down shorthand what she heard.

"Well, gentlemen, what can I do for you?" It was Jeff, opening the conversation.

"I asked Captain Buckle to bring me here because there are ugly rumors that there is more behind the bill you just passed in the Senate than appears on the surface," the Attorney General said.

"Just what kind of report, if you can be more specific?" Jeff asked.

"I can't be more specific than to say that there is a suspicion in some quarters that Senator Smiley's death led into the progress of your measure."

"It sounds viciously absurd to me!" Murray was indignant. "Why Senator Smiley was highly regarded by me and by other senators."

"Yes, I know," the Attorney General continued, "yet he would undoubtedly have opposed your measure."

"Yes, that is probably true," Jeff admitted. "Smiley had a partisan sense of duty in some cases."

"He might have defected?" Jeff asked.

"Again Jeff agreed. "That is possible. It's difficult to tell, though, for there were only six dissenting votes. His one would not have been enough."

"But he might have swung others to him and he might have held the bill in committee?"

Murray admitted these possibilities. "But," he said, "I still can't see how all these things should cast a shadow on my measure."

"This is the way it has been explained to me," the Attorney General began. "Smiley was pretty much a cinch to oppose your bill in committee. He had to be taken out of the picture before the bill could be moved. It was arranged and the bill came out of committee. Probably these who arranged it if it was arranged, had no idea of the consequences of their act."

"It sounds like fiction to me," Murray said. "Things like that can't happen today."

Capt. Buckle, who had not entered the conversation until now, spoke. "Perhaps you're right, Senator. It may all be a coincidence if one could look that anonymous wire Smiley received, the wire which told him about his wife."

"I didn't know about that..." Jeff said.

"No one seems to have known about it but the sender."

"We all receive many anonymous letters, phone calls and telegrams each year. Most of them don't amount to anything," Murray said.

Again the Attorney General spoke, admitting that Jeff's words were true, and that he, too, had received his share of such messages.

"Well, Senator," chairs scraped across the floor, indicating to Gale that the interview was ending. "I want to thank you for this little talk. Perhaps you're right. I've read your bill..."

Gale heard no more. She was folding her shorthand book, placing it in a drawer and taking the receiver from its cradle. She gave Murray's number and waited for an answer as the door to Senator Murray's office opened and the men came out.

"Nan?" she said. "This is Gale. Fine. I thought I might drop out for a little swim before dinner if it's okay. All right, yes, goodbye."

The officers had the door open, going out, when Buckle turned to Gale. "I'll see you later," he said, and Gale nodded.

For the moment there appeared to be nothing to worry about. After all, the officers had voiced only a general suspicion of the bill. But an investigation might bring its defeat, and she knew that Colburn would move heaven and earth to prevent that.

She was so deep in thought on the matter that the telephone's jangle startled her.

"Miss Holway, please?" There was a pause and then a man's voice asked: "Gale? This is Mr. Griswold, back home. I have some wonderful news for you."

"What is it?" Gale was glad to hear from her father's former banker.

"Do you remember that large block of gold-mining stock your father had that we thought was worthless?"

"Yes," Gale remembered there was a trunkful of supposedly worthless mine and oil stocks.

"There's a man here now who has offered fifty thousand dollars cash for it. I believe you should accept this offer." Griswold sounded excited.

"Whatever you say, Mr. Griswold," Gale was dazed at the thought of sudden wealth.

"Do you want the money deposited here in your name? It's as safe here as anywhere." The banker was boosting his institution.

"Yes, deposit it there and send me a checkbook. There are some things I could buy."

"Naturally. And I'll keep my eyes open for some good investments for you, too."

"Just a minute, Mr. Griswold," Gale was afraid he had hung up.

"Yes?"

"You might look over some of that other stock, it might have an unsuspected value, too."

"Yes?"

"Murray admitted these possibilities. "But," he said, "I still can't see how all these things should cast a shadow on my measure."

"This is the way it has been explained to me," the Attorney General began. "Smiley was pretty much a cinch to oppose your bill in committee. Pincushion Style

The colorful lapels on this black suit are beaded flower motifs adapted from a Victorian pincushion

By PRUNELLA WOOD

NINA WOLF is a young woman with ideas that please other women. She it was, for instance, who revived the Victorian bric-a-brac made of tiny shells and corals mounded on plaster and velvet; now she's adapted her private collection of Victorian pin cushions into dress trimmings.

At the right is a street length dinner suit which can be worn out in the late afternoon when many a dinner date gets it start . . . and on the soft green velvet revers of the black crepe model are white bead and bugle flower embroideries adapted from Miss Wolf's pin cushions.

The frock beneath this jacket is simple black crepe cut with a V neck and short cap sleeves. One tops it, of course, with a fur coat over the jacket.

COVENTRY DEFIES AXIS PLANES NOW

Anniversary of Blitzkrieg Finds City Building, But Ready

LONDON—A year ago today German bombers swept over Coventry in wave after wave. The raids began at dusk and continued throughout the night.

Bombs rained down on this shrine of English history at the rate of one a minute. The city was totally unprepared and almost undefended. But a year later it is different and Coventry men now say: "Let 'em come again."

Plans are complete for a new city. It will be bigger and up-to-the-minute. Of greater current importance, however, are the precautions taken to assure a different reception for the Nazis if they should come again. Thousands of fighter planes will converge upon the city and walls of anti-aircraft fire will bracket the sky zones.

Protective Setup Complete

The National Emergency Council of Coventry began protective measures the morning after the raids. A single code word will activate a complex machinery designed to make the city virtually fire-proof.

Last November the flaming torches ignited scores of workmen's homes, lighting the targets for the heavy bombers following close behind. Now every district has its own unit of fire-watchers and wardens, 36,000 in all. Dams of water are available, with an emergency system of sewers and drains to prevent pollution. Gas and water ring mains link the city with Birmingham and Wolverhampton, its own resources should fail.

Rest Centers Built

Last year bombed-out families wandered aimlessly along streets of blackened buildings, or hunted for food in the debris of their homes. Now hundreds of rest centers are ready, and food has been stored at strategic points throughout the city.

Circular and less vulnerable emergency hospitals have been built. Mobile canteens are available for children, who would be evacuated from the danger-zone immediately.

Damage to Coventry centered in the borough, the City Center, and area which D. E. E. Gibson, the city architect, long declared had needed replanning. His visualization for the new city center includes a spacious American touch. Lightness, airiness, convenience are the outstanding notes.

Open Services Here

FT. WAYNE AIR BASE SPREADING WINGS

Planes at New Baer Field Will Guard Extensive Industrial Area

PORT WAYNE, Ind.—On a map of the Middle West, center of a compass at Fort Wayne, set the radius to equal 200 miles on the map scale, and draw a circle.

Within that area are such industrial and defense centers as Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati; Indianapolis, Gary, Hammond and Terre Haute; Milwaukee; Detroit, Lansing and Flint. All are less than half an hour's speed flying time from Baer field, new army air base here.

Last February, Baer field was gently rolling farm land. Today, it is a broad level expanse of 300 acres. Its hills and gulches wiped out by bulldozer tractors and power shovels. Men and machines have finished the 92 buildings of the cantonment area. Concrete mixers and trucks are pouring the last of the mile-long runways and vast parking aprons.

To House Fast Planes

And by the first week of December, nearly 100 P-39 Airacobras, fast Allison-powered pursuit planes, will glide to a landing and make the field their home base. To the planes and their pilots will go the job of helping to protect the Middle West's industrial might, if and when enemy bombers reach it.

When the personnel is complete, approximately 1,400 officers and men will be there. There is room for 600 additional men if the need arises.

The 31st Pursuit group—the pilots—will consist of four units, headquarters and headquarters squadron, and the 39th, 40th and 41st pursuit squadrons.

But it isn't all flying, even at an air base. The 46th air base group, a ground unit consisting of the headquarters and headquarters squadron, the 4th air base squadron and the 61st material squadron, has been assigned to Baer field.

Service Companies Needed

Add to these, the men in the various ordnance companies, quartermaster regiments, service units, communication squadrons, a signal platoon, a weather squadron, a finance department, and others, and the total swells too the 1,400 figure.

The base is a complete city in itself. In addition to barracks, mess halls, and offices, it has its own movie theater, fire department, sewage disposal and water system, lighting system, church, restaurant and radio station.

A machine shop is being set up to service planes. Military police patrol the gates, admitting only those who have passes. A weather station is charting air currents, wind speeds and direction, temperatures, humidity and rainfall.

Only a small percentage of the men are selectees, the rest regular army men.

PONTIAC LISTING 2 COMPLETE LINES

Torpedo and Streamliner
Shown In Either Sixes
Or Eights

The 1942 Pontiac models consist of two complete lines—the Torpedo and the Streamliner in either six or eight cylinder models.

In the Torpedo line are seven body models in the 119-inch wheelbase chassis while the Streamliner has two bodies on the 122-inch wheelbase chassis.

Styling experts have increased the all-around impression of greater size by only slightly increasing the over-all length and rebalancing the front end design appearance.

Add Two-Door Coupe

A rich brown mahogany swirl finishes the surface of the instrument panel, the dashboard and door panels. A new Burma-copper finish with chrome trim is used on the radio grille at the center of the instrument panel, the dials on the left and the electric clock at the right.

There is a more generous use of plastics for decorative and ornamental effects. Below the radio grille is a central ash tray with plastic handle. Plastic numerous illuminated with "edge lighting" at night adorns instruments and clock. Clear Lucite plastic covers the horn button.

Mechanical Advance

Most easily seen mechanical improvement is the simplified and combined road and instrument panel light switch. When switch button is pulled out road and instrument panel lights come on and when rotated the instrument panel and clock lights are made dim or bright.

Pontiac's exclusive oil cleaner has been changed and made still more effective. The width of front brakes have been increased. Front brakes now have triple sealing, the same as Pontiac pioneered on the rear brakes in 1935. This improvement has been provided in spite of the higher cost involved.

There is a more generous use of plastics for decorative and ornamental effects. Below the radio grille is a central ash tray with plastic handle. Plastic numerous illuminated with "edge lighting" at night adorns instruments and clock. Clear Lucite plastic covers the horn button.

Keeps Automobile Wheels In Line

Beyond a doubt, with the present speed of driving, proper alignment is of utmost importance from a safety standpoint alone and certainly from an economical viewpoint.

A wheel out of alignment is not only a dangerous hazard but it also costs you in rubbed away tires every time the wheel turns over.

FARMERS DEPEND ON RELIABLE FIRM

Salona Supply Company
Aids In Meeting Increased Production Quotas

These are days when farmers are unusually concerned with the feeding of their stock and poultry, because there is emphasis upon increased production.

In normal times, farmers naturally want the highest production possible from their hens, cattle, hogs and other stock. Now, with the government setting quotas that call for super-production efforts, they are doubly concerned.

Since feed and production go hand-in-hand, farmers in the vicinity of Salem are prone to turn to the Salona Supply Co., located on W. Pershing st. for their supplies.

The Salona Supply Co., located on W. Pershing st., engages in an extensive business because producers learned long ago that their feeds and service are of first-run quality.

The Salona mixes its own poultry mash. It is careful about the ingredients purchased and makes special efforts to properly mix them so that the poultry will prosper and the farmers will realize profits in the form of health-giving eggs.

Adequate Rations

The common belief among the consuming public that "an egg is an egg" as long as it is fresh, is a misconception of facts, according to tests conducted in the nutrition division of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

Experiments designed to determine the vitamin content of eggs laid by hens which received different feeds and management have shown that the vitamin potency of the egg depended primarily upon the feed and management of the hen that laid it.

All observations, in fact, have shown that hens fed an adequate ration produce eggs which are superior in these vital nutrients to eggs laid by hens fed inadequate rations.

Salona officials pride themselves on the results obtained by the farmers who buy their feeds. They hear from the farmers themselves exactly the results obtained.

They not only offer their own poultry feeds, but a variety of necessary items. Included in the high grade feeds available is Master Mix.

Carry Everything Needed

They carry virtually everything needed in the feed line for stock and poultry, including the Master Mix hog and dairy feeds.

The lineup of feeds covers soybean oil meal, which the Wooster Experiment Station has found is an excellent source of protein and that it can be used as a part of a mixed supplement or as the only protein concentrate in a cattle-fattening ration.

One of their services to farmers is the grinding and mixing of feed. They do custom grinding of all kinds in that field, with their mill busy much of the time.

Farmers who have not visited the Salona Supply Co. will find a treat in store for them if they drop in to look over the products available.

ALBANY, N. Y.—Educated in a one-room school, Burton H. Belknap, state supervisor of rural education, now owns one. He bought the 90-year-old structure near his home for $75. With the building goes three-eighths of an acre of land.

"Natural" Man

Nightly, Russell Allen, 26-year-old Detroit die maker, can be seen walking down Detroit's thoroughfares—without shoes. Why? Let Allen explain: "I've been doing it for years. It's natural to go barefooted. Shoes aren't natural." Allen says he used to be sickly. But since he started to go without shoes and eat foods that haven't been processed he hasn't been sick.

Plane Crashes in Backyard

Occupants of the house on which this light monoplane crashed at Albany, N. Y., escaped injury but the flyers, Charles Wainman of East Greenbush, N. Y., and Orrin Ide of Nassau, were injured.

LONG-WHEELBASE DODGE IS PLANNED

New Model, Now In Production, Will Seat Nine Passengers

Dodge has begun production of two low priced long-wheelbase fluid-drive models, one a sedan, the other a limousine. Though the company's literature identifies the larger cars as "7-passenger" models, the seating capacity in reality provides space for nine occupants, since even the folding center seats are so wide and so closely placed that three passengers may ride on them in comfort.

With a wheelbase of 137 1/2 inches, the cars have an over-all length of 219 1/2 inches. The attractively upholstered, heat and sound-insulated interior provides two pillar lights in addition to the dome light over the rear window.

The dome light is arranged for double duty, functioning automatically with the opening and closing of the right rear door. A further convenience is provided in the form of a map light set into the instrument panel. For map reference, this light is turned on or off through a handy switch. At other times the light operates automatically with the opening and closing of the right front door. The limousine model has a second dome light separately illuminating the front compartment.

The limousine body has, at the back of the front seat, a sliding panel of safety glass, when raised, separates the driving compartment from the rear section. The power plant is the new Dodge 105-hp engine. Tires are 6.50x16 in.

Volio, King Given Berths On First Official All-County Eleven

Leetonia, East Liverpool And Wellsville Teams Put Three Each On First Squad

Johnny Volio and Frank "Pinky" King were named to the quarterback and right end posts, respectively, on the first official all-county team at a meeting of county sports writers at East Liverpool Saturday.

The famed passing combination of the Salem High Quakers was chosen unanimously. Volio has been one of the main cogs in the Salem machine all season, being a threat to opponents not only through his passing and running but through his stellar defensive play.

King, second string center on last year's all-county eleven was shifted to the end slot this season and proved himself capable of handling the duties of a wingman. His closest rivals for the position were Bill Oliver of the undefeated Leetonia squad and Al Schaffer of East Liverpool. King was given the edge because of his deadly tackling and all around defense work.

It was especially hard to choose a backfield this year because of the overabundant supply of good backs in the county. After considerable checking on the part of the writers, Green of East Liverpool, Erwin of Wellsville and Stumpo of Leetonia were chosen to round out the backfield.

Bill Green was the big gun of the Pottery City eleven all year playing a good brand of football in the face of defeat. Besides being a running threat at all times he

The cagers capped their game by a 26-19 count with Jack Hickling counting 10 points to lead both teams in scoring. Farley, hooped 7 points to pace the Akron five.

The local bowlers won their event, 2162 to 1955. Bob Schaefer rolled a 483 series to lead the Phalanx to victory.

Both the Salem and South Akron are in the northeast district of the state and Saturday's events were the opening games in that district.

BEARS NEED WIN TO TIE GREEN BAY FOR WESTERN CROWN

Playoff For Title To Be Held If Bears Beat Chicago Cards

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—The Chicago Bears, needing only one victory to tie the Green Bay Packers for the Western title of the National Football League, will have as their final opponent Sunday the fourth-place Chicago Cardinals.

The Bears must win to deadlock the Packers and force a playoff Dec. 14 for the Western division crown. The winner would meet the New York Giants, Eastern titlist, for the league championship Dec. 21.

But if the Bears should lose to the Cardinals, the Packers would take an undisputed Western title and would play the New York Giants for the championship Dec. 14.

The Packers assured themselves of at least a tie yesterday by defeating the fading Washington Redskins, 22-17. The Bears rolled over the Philadelphia Eagles, 49-14.

The Brooklyn Dodgers clinched a tie for second place in the Eastern division by slugging the Pittsburgh Steelers, 35-7.

The Cardinals, who will be gunning for an upset win over the Bears, lost yesterday to the Detroit Lions, 21-3, and yielded third place in the west to the Lions.

The New York Giants were idle. Cleveland ended its season a week ago.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(Wide World.)—Must have been a surprise to West Coast football fans to learn that Fordham and Missouri had shown so little interest in the rose bowl that they "weren't given a chance" to turn down a bid.

Still there shouldn't be any complaint about Duke except from Southern California sports writers who blasted Wallace Wade the last time he was out there.

Wonder if Duquesne, which needs the dough and could put up a swell show, will get the go-by from all of them?

Today's Guest Star
Dick Cullum, Minneapolis Times, will be saying: "Well, the T formation was my story and it looks as if I'm stuck with it."

Monday Matinee
The Cardinals took a delegation of 36 to the minor league meetings at Jacksonville. Wonder if that included a traffic cop to keep them from getting tangled among themselves? Waite Hoyt has been signed to broadcast Cincinnati baseball next summer, but his New York radio station likes him so well he was given 52 weeks leave-of-absence instead of an outright release.

Quote, Unquote
MacPhail: "We've spent $100,000 toward the 1942 ballclub already. So far we've only been dabbling in minor league prospects."

Cleaning the Cuff
Mose Simms' latest suggestion in his more-dough-for-footballers campaign is that the players form a union. Ted Lyons' new Chicago bowling emporium is doing so well that Ted complains he has no time to bowl except when some of his ballplayer pals drop in. As to his ball, Ted says: "Sometimes I'm as wild as a left-handed rookie!"

Members of the N. Y. Sports Writers Association say the season's crack came when Tommy Harmon, describing one of Tom Kuzma's runs remarked: "He looks like Harmon of Michigan."

DISCUSS PLANS FOR PIN TOURNAY
Plans for the annual Salem city bowling tournament will be launched at a meeting at 7:30 p. m. Friday in the Memorial building. Bill Juergens, bowling association secretary, announced today.

The tournament will probably get under way in February, Juergens said.

Presidents and secretaries of all of the various leagues are requested to attend the Friday night meeting. Any other bowlers are welcome to attend if they wish.

Berea High Triple-Threat Back Chosen Ohio's No. 1 Gridder; List Leetonians

BY FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Dec. 1.—Tom Phillips, 17-year-old pass-throwing, place-kicking ace of Berea, ascended the throne today as Ohio's No. 1 high school football player, the schilling triple-threat dominating the balling by a "country mile" as the Associated Press selected its 1941 all-state scholastic squad.

Accepted as official by the Ohio High School Football Coaches' Association, the all-star team was a "dream" combination. Speed, scoring ability, smartness, defensive strength and love of contact were attributes of all the first-stringers.

Massillon Places Two
Massillon's mighty Tigers, claimants of the state title the last seven years, won two first-string positions, as did Mansfield's surprising Tigers, who battled the Stark County powerhouse to a 6-6 tie, each winding up the campaign with nine victories and a deadlock.

Other positions went to Aaron East, Bexley; Bartins Ferry, Springfield, Upper Sandusky and Cincinnati.

Ernie Altomare and Dominic Stumpo, members of the undefeated but once tied Leetonia eleven, were given honorable mention rating in the Associated Press All-Ohio football squad.

Only two of the players, center Bob Wright of Bexley and tackle Lou Groza of Martins Ferry were over the 200-pound mark, as the voters placed an accent on speed and maneuverability.

Extreme height, too, was tossed aside as a requisite, as only two—Groza and end Elmer Bean of Springfield—topped the six-foot elevation. The weights ranged from Wright's 214 pounds to the 156 boasted by Mansfield's "mighty" guard, John Weber, while Massillon's star backfielder, Fred "Pokey" Blunt, stands only five feet seven as compared with Groza's six feet three inches.

Phillips, who has more than a score of colleges seeking his plying services, is rated the greatest scholastic passer the state has ever seen. He tossed 21 touchdown aeriels in eight games, completing 18 of 24 in one contest and 17 of 23 in another. He threw five touchdowns against one team, four against two others, and three in another game.

Scores Seven Himself
In addition to that he found time to score seven touchdowns, to boot 14 extra points from place-ment, and to call the signals which led his squad to seven wins and a tie. The latter team led 20-0 in the third period, when Phillips uncorked two touchdown passes and scored another himself, along with booting the two extra points which drew Berea up on even terms. The All-Ohio, with some 17,000 boys in the running, is tougher to "make" than the All-American college squad, when sheer numbers are considered. Nominations for the team ran into the hundreds, votes being cast by coaches, sports writers and officials.

With the field so huge, places could not be found on the top team for all the outstanding talent, such stars as DeMando of Massillon, Poremba of Cleveland Lincoln, Breese of Hamilton and Lothamer of Canton Lehman being relegated to the second string.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—Soybeans advanced more than a cent a bushel while wheat and rye were up almost a cent in early trading today.

Buying of beans was stimulated by receipts of scattered rains in parts of the belt which were expected to interfere with harvesting. A government forecast of higher prices in 1942 also attracted attention.

EDUCATOR URGES NEWSPAPER STUDY

Special Courses Deemed Necessary For Proper Reading of News

FORT WORTH, Tex. — Systematic study of American newspapers in high schools and colleges to "insure far more intelligent reading and use of the news" is advocated by F. C. Leach, Jr., instructor at Texas Wesleyan college of Fort Worth.

Every young American, Leach asserted, should have the "right to learn about news as he learns of music, art, literature."

Leach said the following subjects might be included in the study with "ease and reason": "The physical and mechanical aspects of the press—that is, the organization of a large newspaper personnel, and its functions in the editorial, mechanical and business departments; the study of news values and the study of public demand; the principles of objective reporting, and first-hand experience at it (essential, I believe, to any fair approach to the problems of the press); the history of news transmission and its extent today; the free press as an extension and cornerstone of democracy, as envisioned by statesmen, publishers, and readers."

Details Could Be added "These," he said, "could be broken down into concrete topics, and doubtless many others could be added."

Leach, who was a Casa Manana dancer before he became an instructor, asserted: "Evidently the founding fathers saw that the newspaper was vital to American government. The Bill of Rights begins with setting up legal grounds for freedom of the press."

But "claiming to be pragmatic, modern educators in general have made one of the most stupid omissions imaginable in their efforts to plan curricula which offer subjects of real value to young Americans in functioning as good citizens."

Vast Storehouse For All He pointed out that a survey revealed people glean from newspapers approximately 63 per cent of the information about the world, but that there is no course generally offered in which a student can learn specifically how to read a newspaper.
